Devil's Thumb Ranch Raised Wagyu

Cattle have called our Colorado mountain valley home for nearly a century now, a region known for its rich agricultural land and green, rolling pastures. Today, we proudly continue this ranching heritage.

Looking to serve the best possible beef to our guests, Devil's Thumb Ranch decided to invest in unparalleled Wagyu beef. Starting back in 2013 with the purchase of our first full-blood Wagyu cattle from Upstate NY, we have now grown our herd to over 200.

Devil's Thumb Ranch is proud to raise Wagyu cattle in a stress-free, natural environment. They graze on local high-altitude grasses, which have extraordinarily high digestible nutrients, especially protein, giving our Wagyu beef its signature flavor profile. We're able to serve the most tender beef available while doing so in a sustainable manner—ensuring the most ethical and humane treatment possible for our cattle.
